The multifunctional sports complex should grow in the Žilina housing development Vlčince in the Karpatská Street. „The area would include three indoor lounges, one ice-hockey ground and provide facilities for 23 sports,“ informed Ivan Harman, the mayor of Žilina, to the briefing. The project envisages the investment cost of 4.65 mills Euro; this year it ought to be put into use yet. The private investor who will rent it to the town will build the complex. The entire area should go to the town property after 20 years. „The town should pay economically eligible costs for the use of this space; they will be cleared once a year. The fiscal impact on the budget is planned in the amount of 332 thousand €, the remainder will pay other users, „added the mayor. He introduced the interesting 13-meter climbing wall and the dance and ballet room with mirrors. "In Slovakia there is not such area I would afford to say,“ Harman added.
