The Union of Slovakia Towns, which seeks to promote the role of cities as centres of regions in the process of decentralization and modernization of public administration, will lead the mayor of the Slovak Republic capital Andrej Ďurkovský. For the two-year term he was chose on Friday at XIX Union congress in Bratislava. The Union of Slovakia Towns wants to continue the development of dialogue with representatives of local self-administration, businessmen and academic community. Should act together especially in addressing the impacts of the economic and financial crisis. The Union calls on cities to show solidarity with towns Senica, Myjava and Prietrž village, which were recently hit by the storm rainfall and flash hail.
