The Bratislava self-administration region (BSK) will certainly fail in the initially announced start date for the construction of the multi-functional hall in Petržalka. Its chairman said at the February on-line discussion on the portal of the region, the hall would begin building late the 1st quarter of 2009. The Petržalka mayor Milan Ftáčnik as a representative of the building office and a chairman of the supervisory board Prvá župná confirmed that Danube Arena Company has not applied for the building permission yet. „First it is necessary to resolve the financing,“ he said. About the possible start date of the hall construction is now early to say according to him and it would be speculations only.
