

New director at Helika

Author: SF / pb | Published: 15.03.2011

Tomáš Weiser has become new director of architectural and design studio Helika. He graduated from Technical University in Brno. After graduating he completed one-year internship in the United States. After his return in 2001, he joined the consulting division of HELIKA as a consultant. He focused on consulting in the field of process management and organization. In September 2003, he became sales director of the company and his competences were acquisition of new clients, marketing and company PR activities. Tomáš Weiser speaks English and he enjoys skiing, travelling and hiking in his spare time.

---

15.03.2011 10:07, SF / pb