

Ladislav Novák goes to OKIN GROUP

Author: SF / pb | Published: 05.05.2009

Ladislav Novák (age 51) has become the new Chief Executive Officer in OKIN GROUP, which provides facility management services, among others. He has replaced Michal Jelínek, who will continue in his position of the company's Board Chairman. In the last several years, OKIN GROUP has established offices in four countries. The decisions on all development activities and the strategies of the individual subsidiaries are made in the Czech Republic, which remains the key market for OKIN GROUP. Ladislav Novák has come to OKIN Group from the Slovak company Grotto, and before that he worked as Executive Manager in Škoda Praha. Ladislav Novák graduated from the Faculty of Electrical Engineering, Czech Technical University in Prague, majoring in Technical Cybernetics. He is married and has six children. In addition to work, his hobbies include flying, motorcycles, music, in-line skating and skiing.

05.05.2009 09:42, SF / pb